“ I am at loss for words to convey my sorrow. Danny was a good friend in our younger years. We grew apart as we got older but he was always a lot of fun to be around. Thank you Danny for your time here. I will always remember.

“ Dan-o....never quite got used to calling you anything but Dannie. You were truly my brother. Not only by blood relation, or the Grizzly Adams Indian (for Dannie, Native Americans for us not as bold with our lips) blood brother ceremony re-enactment in Auburn....dull knife, bad idea...but by the friendship we had since birth. Inseparable. When we got licenses, we were back in business! We had another brother who was very close to us....the three of us....wow. What a handful. His loss devastated us both. You were one of the handful of people I felt I could %100 trust with anything, and your loyalty was never in doubt. I've never lived a life without you two. I honestly don't know what to do. But Dannie, you were the one. My brother, the one I hugged good bye just Thursday before last. I always meant it when I said "I love you , brother"

My deepest sympathies to the family. You have no idea how close you are to me, and the comfort of growing up knowing that if anything God-forbid happened to my parents, I would become a part of yours. I already felt like a member and had a brother there and for that I can never repay you.

I love you, Dannie. Mike, make sure he doesn't burn the place down while you two hold down the fort waiting for me. Not saying goodbye, because when my time is done here (hopefully years from now) we're gonna rage it. You would have at least dug the incense..... You know what I mean.

Love ya man, and until us three meet again, you two take care of each other. Love you too Mike. Save a few for me.

It sure is very hard dealing with the death of a loved one this young. Ellen I do hope you and your parents find comfort in 2 Corinthians 4:9, and also build your hope based on Isaiah 25:8.
