“ My deepest condolences to Jerry and Cathy, Derek was an absolutely beautiful soul. I have so many wonderful memories; His amazing barbecues, our holiday dinners, family game nights, which he somehow almost always won (collusion!?!). My absolute favorite memory is his childlike wonder and amazement at seeing the ocean for the very first time. He, Ashley and I went to the beach in Oceanside, CA and when we got there, we all walked to the sand. There were what seemed like a million people there and none of us were dressed for the beach. Derek didn't care. He immediately removed his shoes and took off running into the water. I'll never forget the joy in his face that day. I hope you have found some peace. Rest easy my sweet angel. I love you.

“ Derek was my 1st and only cousin on my dad's side of the family. He was smart, witty and so very kind. I will cherish all the memories I have of him, especially when he was a little tyke and would come and stay with my family for a week every summer while his mom and dad would go skiing. I will always love you Derek and remember your smiling face and when you said to my family as a young child, "I Derek Wayne Nelson from "Peka" Kansas....where it snows. Where it snows."

“ Derek and I knew each other for about 15 years, he randomly messaged me one day suggesting that I was the only girl in Topeka who liked anime. We clicked over our mutual interest, began talking frequently, and eventually met up in person. A few years later, I moved to the east coast to live with my boyfriend at the time (now husband) and Derek and I stayed in touch and kept up our friendship, talking online and seeing each other when I'd visit home. Eventually I returned to Kansas, bringing my boyfriend with me, and he and Derek finally met and became friends as well. We would often stop in to say hi when we'd be at the mall and Derek would be working at Sears, and invited him over to our home a number of times as well. We also attended his graduation at Washburn, traveled together a few times, and he was with us the weekend that my husband and I got engaged. Derek and I supported each other through some difficult times, and he was always a good friend. I'm glad he stumbled upon my profile on whichever website we were both on and decided to say hi. Derek, I'm so sorry that you're no longer here, and I hope you're in a better place. I'll always remember you and the memories we made together. Rest in peace, my friend.

“ My condolences to the family on your loss. My prayers are with you. I knew Derek through work. I remember numerous in depth discussions about Star Wars sagas, Lego projects and especially Star Wars Legos projects. I enjoyed when he would show me pictures of his legos room then I'd show him whatever project my son and I were working on. It's hard to believe he is gone. He will be missed.

“ Derek Nelson was one of the greatest, most special person I knew. He was a dear friend of mine. At first, he seemed like a shy and quiet guy, but once you got to know him and he opened up, he had nothing to share but smiles and laughter. I've been looking back on the time I was able to share with him, and I can only hear laughter and feel the love. We both had hard times, but we offered the support we needed for each other, and if that isn't friendship, I don't know what is. His friendship meant so much to me, and I'll cherish our memories. Derek, I hate that you had to go, but I do hope you're in a much better place. Rest peacefully.

“ I didn't know Derek for very long, but every moment I spent with him was filled with love and compassion. Derek was very loving, funny, and smart. We enjoyed talking about our favorite shows and listening to music. He was such a talented guitar player, and was proud to show me his collection of Star Wars. He loved his family, friends, and pets. I'll always remember Derek as a kind, sweet friend who passed too soon. Even though I had only just met him, I felt like he could be a true lifetime friend. My heart goes out to his friends and family, as I understand this is a very difficult time. We love you, Derek!

“ The journey of my relationship with Derek followed a common path many have probably shared at some point in their lives. Initial introductions with side eyes of skepticism on both our parts at first.. quickly followed by firm handshakes of hello and goodbye after just a few encounters. This then quickly morphed into the necessary, but alarmingly awkward, “ hey bro” hugs of greeting and departure. Then finally.. the needed and welcomed “ we're family hug “ that was required by both of us. There are too many fond memories to mention here and not enough words to express them. The bbq's, Holiday dinners, July 4th fireworks we spent a small fortune on (only to be out done by the neighbors each year) to the Star Wars room and on and on. Words cannot express the loss I feel other than I lost a son this week as well. I wish I had 5 more minutes with you to reiterate what you meant to our family. I love you bro.

“ My condolences to all of us going through this loss. Derek was a beautiful person, who knew how to read a room, make others smile, and have a good time with everyone. He had a profound impact on mine and everyone's lives, and I'm grateful to everyone that cared about him and made sure to reach out to him. Derek was a part of my family, and I am so thankful every day that I was able to be with him as long as I was. I look forward to connecting with you all and sharing our favorite memories of this amazing man. Sending my love to you all.
