“ I don't even know how to put into words how Barb has affected my life. I'm forever grateful for that time when Pat invited me over to his house after school to hang out. It was then that I was introduced to quite possibly the kindest; most thoughtful and caring woman around. I miss all those late nights sitting around chatting with her as she was always there to lend me her ear and give me advice when I needed it... which was often. Barb was like a mother to me. Made me dinner, stocked the fridge full of my favorite drinks and made sure I was taking care of my health. She called me son. She treated me like family. She treated everyone like family. The world is a better place having had her in it.
