“ I was so sorry to read of Charles' death. We were classmates at Sts Peter and Paul. I remember our class writing letters to him when he was first stricken with polio. This of course was long before accessibility standards were set. Two of the boys in our class would grab hold of his wheelchair and simply carry him up and down the stairs to classes. At our tenth class reunion Charles brought the letters we had sent him. I think it meant as much to us as it did to him. I last talked with him about 2 years ago. He was the same great guy he had always been!
