Dear Jon, My name is Lynette Hipwell, I am from Roy, Utah. I heard your story on ID Television. This has been one of the most horrible murders I have heard about in the past 10 years. Your wife Cindy seemed to be a Wonderful person who Loved both you and your son. I must let you know the most important aspect of this crime and your duty in the crime. What I know for sure is that Jesus will change everything negative about this crime and make it right, by being able to forgive the actions of your son, as an act of Love. Love is perfect, It forgets all wrong, and forgives all wrong. Your forgiveness is your act of knowing that your son did not do this as something that is wrong, but as an act of forgiveness by a man who once Loved his son. Sir, wrap your Loving arms around your son, forgive him for the sin against this man, in order to Love Your enemy, as yourself. You are right in your forgiveness and I am one who will mark it, read it, and accept this. Please continue to Love and agree with everyone involved and an important part of this forgiveness. Amen to all and be well in all you do. Amen

“ Goodbyes are hard, I know that very well. You might find comfort in Leaves of Grass, a bit of poetry that speaks to this stuff. Try to live and breathe, and continue to honor what she loved most. I'm sorry this happened. I guess you can never really know when you'll lose someone. Keep your family close. It will get better.
Best wishes,

“ I am so incredibly sorry to hear about Cindy. I heard about what happened to her through the media. I'm just a girl from Boston and have no connection to her but just wanted to express my heartfelt sympathy to her loved ones.

I'm here to give you Hope. We live in a fallen world where evil things happen. But God will make it right in the end, He will make ALL things new. And we will get to reign and live with the Lord forever and ever in our resurrected bodies, under a new heavens and on a renewed Earth, and with our loved ones who were made righteous through the blood of Christ. You haven't lost Cindy. She's safe with Jesus. One day you will have a joyful reunion with her. The only thing you have lost is a little bit of temporal time. This life may seem long but compared to eternity, this life is just a little blip, a tiny little dot from God's eternal perspective.

Please don't lose heart. Run the race well. Cindy will be cheering you on until the moment you see one another again.

Trust in Him, for He will carry you through.~+

“ Just a normal bloke in England wants to say how much I feel for you. Keep your chin up mate, do her proud and let justice take its course. I know this sounds daft right now, but the pain will ease, and it will get better, one day. Best regards to your family too. I hear about things like this all too often here to, it's a worldwide scourge. It's so terribly heart wrenching. Philip. >hug<

“ Cindy is an inspiration to so many. No words could ever express the loss of such a caring and soulful spirit. Her depth of knowledge and compassion are rare . Our 35 year old gelding has her to thank for the wonderful life he is living. Of course we humbly thank her for her insights. This was not the first horse she gave a new life to. You were so happy. So brilliant. So compassionate. Such a truly GOOD person. I'm devastated at this tragic senseless loss. I promise still to look up and ask you for your guidance when my animals need your help. Love you beyond words.. Cindy Jones

“ Shooting Star Equine Rescue is honored that Cindy's family chose our charity to be the recipient of donations in Cindy's memory. She clearly lived a life full of love for the animals and devoted her work to equines. Our rescued horses, ponies and donkeys will benefit directly from this support as all donations go directly to their medical and daily care needs. We have recently created an EAGALA certified therapy program for individuals, families and groups. I would like to offer that the donations could also be directed toward a start up equine therapy group in her memory for children/adolescents suffering from grief and loss issues if the family or donor would desire this. I am very sorry for this tragic loss of Cindy and send my heartfelt prayers to her family and friends. Careen Cain founder/president

When Cindy made her first visit to our farm, I knew that I had found a great friend... And it always seemed like she had to leave way too soon, even though I also felt like I was her only client. Cindy was a person of compassion and sincerity, always going above and beyond for others. And there was no doubt that her children and her husband were first in her life. Her love for horses as well as her understanding and passion for helping them will be missed big time, as will that beautiful smile and the jokes we would share. May God bless each of us with peace.

“ I was 8 years old when my family moved into a house down the street from the Campbell's. Cindy was the first new friend I made. We spent a lot of time at each other's houses as kids and I have so many happy memories of growing up with her. Sadly we didn't keep I touch like we should have after graduating high school, but it was always easy to catch up when we did get together! Cindy was a wonderful person and I am grateful that I had the chance to know her. She will surely be missed.

“ Our Memories of Cindy, our sister-in-law while married to Dr Clinton Beggs, and always our friend, are now clouded by the tragedy of her early passing. Her vivacious smile, willingness to try new things, and inquiring mind made her a joy to be around. Our time in London wandering the streets and bistros, laughing till it hurt will always be remembered along with many other adventures. Things don't always work out the the way we want or even the way they should, but in our faith we know that Cindy as we knew her is not the full term of her being. The lord welcomed her as he will welcome each of us when our hour comes. Much care and great affection go out to those who loved her from her California Connection, the "Holly House"

“ I am an equine technician at the University of Missouri. I was Cindy's tech throughout her residency. She was pregnant, had Randi, and didn't know how to handle it if she got called in to work. So, she would call me whenever, middle of the night, whenever she had an emergency call, and drop Randi off with my daughter to take care of while she was saving lives in the clinic. Sometimes, I would have to be in with her. Randi never did like this set up and I can only remember her crying the entire time. My daughter, Kessa, would just walk the halls with her, take her in the back yard to show her trees and flowers, and she just screamed. For some reason, it never bothered Kessa. She was so enjoying holding that baby. Cindy and I became good friends, and though we lost contact for awhile, we had recently reconnected, and I know how happy she was and in love with her husband. We had so many laughs, so many good times, such a great feeling being part of her medical team. The world lost a wonderful soul, the heavens gained a talented, loving doctor to watch over all that live in heaven with her. I hope my dogs Motown and Jazz, whom she knew were part of her greeting party. Will always have you in my heart, Cindy.

She was teaching me about horses (something I knew little about), and the subject changed to smaller animals. I told her of a particular issue with my dog, and she cracked a joke about my dog being old. I laughed, she laughed, we laughed together.
