Big little brother, our wild child harly dude. Having said this, we all knew and know how Harlan loved family. He lived his life his way, and then came to know God. Always one of twelve, always in our hearts. We love you Harlan❤️

i couldn't have been more than 6 or 7 years old when you asked me if i wanted to go for a ride, i of course said yes. there were no helmets, and no worries at all from you or me. it was a very hot day in summer after me and my dad had gotten back from fishing. they were cleaning fish and getting ready to cook out by the picnic tables where grandpa used to sit with sandy. we were going for a ride. you made me promise not to tell my mom about what was about to happen. we drove very slowly out of the driveway and for a while longer, and then hit an open road. i felt like i was on a jet that had been turned into a convertible. i remember seeing the speedometer hit 80 and not panicking at all. i felt absolutely free. i knew i was in good hands. all these years later and there's a harley in my garage too, and every time the speedometer hits 80 i think of that moment. i'm sorry i broke my promise. i told my mom last week about it. she was still pissed. you were right, i shouldn't have told her. rest in peace in peace uncle harlan, you're always with me....

Most recently, I enjoyed visiting with uncle Harlan when I came to Kansas to see my mom. She would let him know I was coming and he always made an effort to see me. Some of those visits were at my aunt Shirley's home, or on Mom and John's front porch, or McDonald's where most of the family gathered.

My uncle Harlan visited me and my family in Maine a few years ago. This was during a motorcycle trip that he, uncle Gene and their friend Kenny were on. If you know where Maine is then you know it's kinda out of the way.

We had so much fun during our visit. We had a traditional lobster and clam dinner - none of which uncle Harlan would touch - LOL. Uncle Harlan also got the ride of his life when I may have been a little reckless with him on the 4-wheeler while showing him around our place! I will never forget this visit!

After seeing the pictures everyone shared today, I am happy to know that he traveled, spent time with family, and he was a genuine man who called things as he saw them. Uncle Harlan was a hard worker and he was successful!! He was a provider, he loved and he is loved by many.

When I explained to others who my uncle Harlan was, I always said he was a Harley Dude! You know - Just like the ones you see in the movies! But, I know my uncle had a soft spot in his heart - except for that one-time when mom, Paige and my son Mason tried to drop a cat off at his place - lol). Ask Carolyn about that story. I hope most of you got a glimpse of his tenderness.

I will miss uncle Harlan, but I believe he is with our Everlasting Father, and I will see him again one day in Heaven ❤️

I love you uncle - Michelle
