“ Jae and I worked together serving at L’Auberge in Dayton. She became my DBF—Dayton Best Friend, as she said. And she was. She came into my life during a very difficult time and made it joyful. We loved brewing free pots of espresso at work (AKA “a pot of joy”), drink it together, and then knock out a shift. She was easy to love. I loved grabbing lunch between shifts. Or going out for some drinks. She savored life and had such a pure take. I miss our conversations. Our lives took different paths when I went back to med school, moved, and we lost touch. She never stopped being my DBF and someone I’ll always cherish in my life. I love you sweet Jae. Your DBF—Ang.<3

“ I got to know Jae at Koch and Co. She and I became very good friends. Every morning, Jae and I would visit at the time clock. If one day went by that we didn't have our little meeting, the whole day was a disaster. She was one of the nicest people I ever met. She didn't have a mean bone in her body. If she got upset with a co-worker, she would apologize within the next day. I really miss my morning talks with her and seeing her smiling face and little wave.
