“ I remember the night Melissa was born. They brought her into me and laid her in my arms. She was so beautiful. She had blue eyes and lots and lots of long dark hair. She was so tiny. 6 pounds and 6 oz. I took her tiny little hand and just looked at those tiny little fingers. then I kissed her on the forehead. She laid there in my arms and just looked at me. Like she was trying to figure it all out. they left her there for what seemed a long time. I finally looked away for just a second and when I looked back, her little eyes were closed and she was sleeping. She was just a little angle. when I brought her home, she weighed just under 6 pounds. I don't remember the exact weight, but it sure scared me thinking of having a 5 pound something baby to take care of. I sure loved that girl and that will never, ever change. of course, you never do stop loving someone that is no longer with you.

my beautiful daughter loved pink. Pink anything. So looking here, I wanted a pink candle for my sweet baby girl. I love you, and miss you so much. they tell me that someday the tears will stop, but I truly have my doubts. I know you missed your grandma and pop. Now you are with them. that gives me a little comfort.

“ My thoughts and prayers are with you all during this most difficult time. She was chosen to go be with our lord way too soon. There is a reason for everything and all I can say is that she is with our family in heaven and Oh the stories they are hearing from Melissa. Aunt Pat, Uncle Yogi and my mother Marilyn, Uncle Paul, Uncle Dick, Aunt Dorothy. Aunt Virginia and last but not least Grandma Wilder welcomed Melissa home. I love all of you and may the pain in your hearts begin to heal one day soon. ”

“ *Sissa,
You were the strongest of all of us kids.
Always keeping us all in line. You were the best sister and aunt. I don't think there was ever a person that didn't immediately like you when they first met you. I am very proud to say that yes I am your baby sister. I love you and I always will. Fly high sweet Angel. Love, your babiest sister*

“ Melissa was the perfect big sister, the perfect aunt, and the perfect friend. She will never be erased from our minds or our hearts. She lives on through her family, especially her nieces and nephews whom she loved more than life itself.

See you later for now, Mel. We know that you are with Gram and Pop watching over all of us.
