“ *I remember taking Susan to the Brett Michaels concert in Salina Kansas. We went out for dinner and then over to the concert. I was a little nervous because I knew that loud noises upset Susan. We made it in and I asked her if she wanted ear plugs, because it was going to be loud. She replied NO. I thought oh boy ok if you need them later just let me know. Well let me tell you I saw a side of Susan I never had seen before. Her eyes lit up when Brett Michaels came out on stage, and up we went to the front of the stage music blaring but that didn't stop her. She went right up and Brett grabbed her hand and she wasn't letting go! Mean while I'm thinking I should of got me some ear plugs, It was so loud!! Well she finally let go of his hand and let me tell you she was in heaven dancing away at the music having a great time! I had the best night just watching her. Thank you Susan for such a precious memory
I Love you and will miss you dearly !!!
Love Mary*
