“ Of course I have several memories of dad. He was an honest, hard working, family man. He taught me that the truth will always be my guide. He taught me that love is easy to give and easy to accept. He taught me that working hard for something makes that achievement more meaningful. He taught me how to sail a boat. He taught me how to drive a car. He taught me how to work on a car. He and grandpa were the impetus behind my love for flying, which I turned into a career.

Although I didn't realize it's importance at the time, now I'm thankful that he turned down an Army promotion so he could stay closer to home and continue to make it to his kid's activities. He was always very involved in our lives. Camping. Canoeing. Baseball. Football. Skiing. Swim meets. Scouts. You name it, he was there. And isn't that the point?! To be 'there.' To be present. I think someone once said that, being 'present' is the greatest gift. That was dad's best gift to us.

Thank you dad, for so many things. You were a wonderful teacher. I'm sure I didn't thank you enough along the way. But I hope you saw the impact of your lessons by seeing how I've lived my life. And I hope I can continue to pass your lessons on to my children. I love you dad! Please give MacKenzie a hug and a butterfly kiss for me. Until we meet again. ❤️

“ We met you and your precious family when our oldest child, Jon started kindergarten at Bishop Elementary School. Your wife, Pat, mentored our family about many volunteering possibilities at school and we began taking turns taking care of each other’s toddlers. We remember celebrating your 50th wedding anniversary at Lake Shawnee and spending so much time catching up on the years. The antique car that you and Pat rode in that day will always be a special memory. Bill you loved working on those old cars! We are so saddened by knowing that you have passed on and will no longer be here on earth but we look forward to that wonderful day that we can see each other again. Our deepest sympathy to Pat and your dear family, Stephanie and Ruben Perez

Patsy, so sorry to hear about Bill. Many fond memories of our time in Petersburg and riding around in the old car that he rebuilt (which I understand he kept for many years!). I’m thankful for the time I got to visit with the two of you several years ago on one of my trips through Kansas. My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family. Stu Spero
